to travel outside their community to receive the highest quality radiation and chemotherapy treatments and clinical trials.

The new Cancer Care Center provides:

- Board-certified physician cancer specialists including your radiation oncologist, medical oncologist, surgeon, pain medicine specialist, diagnostic radiologist, interventional radiologists, and pathologist all on site

PRESIDENT'S Message

At the time of this publication, I will guarantee that most members of our community will label 2014 as the year that came in with a “Roar.” But I think that at year end we will look at the “roar” as being far more than a rugged winter. 2014 will mark the year we expand oncology care in our community adding a state-of-the-art radiation therapy program to an already excellent medical oncology practice.

The Cancer Care Center at Wood County Hospital brings to life a dream we have had for many years. That is, bringing to our community a robust, technologically advanced and well rounded cancer service right here in Wood County. In this issue of Outlook you will learn a great deal about the components of the service and the clinical team led by Drs. Robert Lavey and David Brown in place to provide it. It is truly an exciting time for us all.

While the health care landscape nationally continues to evolve and change with the implementation of the Affordable Care Act (“ACA”), WCH is constantly striving to assemble and deliver the services our community needs. In addition to Cancer Care, we are also expanding the Wood County Urology Center with the addition of Dr. Eric Todd who will be practicing Urology full time in our community.

Our other centers for Child Development, Orthopedic Surgery, Weight Loss Surgery, and Wound Care continue to provide high quality, locally accessible care in our community at reasonable cost.

There are many changes occurring in health care right now. At WCH we are trying to respond to these keeping our eye on the needs of you as a member of the community. With the implementation of the new law we find many people confused, particularly about insurance coverage. Indeed there are some new plans and more changes seemingly on a daily basis. If you have a question about whether WCH or your doctor is on the panel of providers for your plan please do not hesitate to contact us. We do want to be accessible for you and your family.

Again, thank you for your support and interest in Wood County Hospital!

Sincerely,

Residents of Wood County and the surrounding area know they can depend on Wood County Hospital to lead the way to better health. “I’m thrilled with what Wood County Hospital has accomplished. The Cancer Care Center is a tremendous resource for area residents. The Center houses the best technology in a setting designed to relieve the patients’ stress and anxiety,” said Robert Lavey, MD, radiation oncologist and medical director of the Cancer Care Center. “We recognize that a patient’s emotional state affects their ability to overcome cancer. When you are diagnosed with cancer, your life is thrown into an uproar. Providing comfort and establishing the patient’s control over their care and circumstances improves their therapy experience and their chance of a positive outcome,”

“Providing oncology services in a community hospital setting like Wood County, allows us to treat the patients with high-tech, state-of-the-art standards and a level of personal care that makes the patient feel secure in their treatment,” said David Brown, MD, medical oncologist at the Cancer Care Center.

The Cancer Care Center, located in the medical office building adjacent to the hospital, has its own exterior entrance and a dedicated parking area. At 7,000-square-feet, the facility has a gleaming glass exterior and a comforting, nature-themed interior. The radiation therapy treatment room is enhanced by a virtual skylight and four virtual windows surrounding the patient in a tranquil, tropical environment. Wood-grained flooring and a patient-controlled stereo music system expand the comforting atmosphere of the radiation therapy suite.

The medical oncology infusion center is equipped with a reclining lounge chair and charging station for a laptop or tablet for each patient. Two full walls of windows bring in natural light and pleasant outdoor scenery for patient relaxation and enjoyment during chemotherapy and supportive treatments.

The Cancer Care Center utilizes technology that is second to none, including the first Varian TrueBeam System 2.0 Linear Accelerator and the first Toshiba Aquilion large-bore CT scanner in Ohio. This multimillion dollar investment in the finest technology available provides our dedicated radiation oncologist, radiation physicist, and radiation dosimetrist team the unsurpassed power to design and deliver the optimum customized treatment to each patient.

“We take advantage of the utmost 4-dimensional capabilities of the Aquilion LB and TrueBeam 2.0 to create individualized radiation therapy schemes that most precisely concentrate our radiation dose within the patient’s tumors and spare their healthy tissue from damage. This combination goes beyond anything I’ve seen in 25 years of practicing in major university cancer centers throughout the country,” said Dr. Lavey. “The new scanner gives the patient more space and the physician better opportunity to optimally position the patient than any other facility in Ohio. It also creates videos showing the exact movement of the tumor and vital organs as the patient breathes instead of just the frozen images standard CT scanners produce, allowing us to focus radiation on the entire tumor and only the tumor. This increases the probability of eliminating the tumor and avoiding side effects.”

What does this mean for Cancer Care Center patients? ## THE WOOD COUNTY HOSPITAL GUILD CELEBRATES 60 YEARS OF SERVICE

Norma Barr and Mary Myers Fuelber, past WCH Guild Presidents, were recognized at the Guild's 60th anniversary event on March 17, 2014.

An organization of more than 600 men and women committed to the mission of Wood County Hospital and the patients it serves marked its remarkable 60th anniversary.

Since its formation the Guild has donated more than $1 million dollars to the hospital through equipment purchases, room and department renovations, material acquisitions to help establish new programs and many other items that enhance the overall patient experience.

At the recent "Get Your Green On" event at the hospital that celebrated the Guild's founding, past Guild presidents were recognized along with Norma Barr and Mary Myers Fuelber, two members who helped establish the organization six decades ago.

Departments shared their stories of how the Guild has enriched their area. For example, the Obstetrics showed the gift bags each new mother takes home with her baby, while the Wellness Department bragged about its van that supports education to school children, and visits area businesses for wellness screenings.

The special celebratory evening culminated with the announcement by Guild president Scotty Huntington that the Guild has committed $100,000 to the new Cancer Care Center at Wood County Hospital, proving that they are as generous and committed as ever to the health of the community. ■

FROM THE Foundation

WCH Foundation provides powerful new equipment for Cancer Care Center

The war on cancer at the Wood County Hospital Cancer Care Center is poised to advance to a new level with the acquisition of breakthrough technology being made possible by the Wood County Hospital Foundation.

The Foundation's Board of Trustees approved a significant $535,000 to purchase the Toshiba Aquilion Large Bore CT Scanner, the first of its kind in Ohio. The new CT Scanner will be used by the radiation oncology team for mapping out radiation therapy treatments as well as for interventional procedures.

"The CT Scanner, used in tandem with the Varian TruBeam Linear Accelerator, will provide our dedicated radiation oncologist, radiation physicist, and radiation dosimetrist team unsurpassed power to design and deliver the optimum customized treatments to each patient," said Dr. Robert Lavey, medical director of the Cancer Care Center.

The large bore CT Scanner offers greater precision in oncology planning through improved CT simulation positioning, every time for every patient, without compromise, and covering more anatomy with greater accuracy.

To make this powerful new tool available to benefit Wood County and other NW Ohio residents, the WCH Foundation has embarked on a $1 million Cancer Care Center campaign, for which $300,000 in pledges have already been secured.

The new Wood County Hospital Cancer Care Center opened in March, 2014 in a facility adjacent to the hospital, providing compassion, expertise and results close to home for many Northwest Ohio residents.

"The commitment of the Wood County Hospital Foundation to the acquisition of this important and powerful new CT Scanner is reflective of the Foundation's ongoing support of the critical mission of the hospital," noted Dean King, Foundation Chairman.

"We are privileged to stand with the doctors, nurses, technicians and all the members of the Wood County Hospital healthcare team in continuously improving the varied and quality health services we provide to residents of this community," he added. "At times our support is manifested in securing the funds to acquire the highest levels of technology, such as this new CT Scanner, which is why we are completely dedicated to the success of the current million dollar Cancer Care Center campaign."

Significant support for the Cancer Center campaign is already coming from an internal hospital campaign.

"Our employees, board members, physicians and community members were extremely supportive in our last campaign," noted Cristy Gray, the Foundation's Vice President of Development. "We are extremely fortunate to have the support of our WCH family for this effort as we bring radiation oncology back to Wood County. With the continued changes of health care reform, philanthropy continues to be a high priority for hospitals, and we always welcome those who want to join us in having a positive impact on the health and well being of area residents. There will be a beautiful giving tree displayed in the lobby with etched leaves with donors names."

Wound Healing Center achieves results to improve people's lives

A typical day repairing antique tractors on his Rudolph, Ohio farm changed dramatically for Tay Yarger in 2013 when a 700 pound axle fell, crushing his right foot.

Rushed to Wood County Hospital, orthopedic surgeon Dr. Scott Deering surgically repaired his wounds, but believed Yarger would lose his toes.

Dr. Deering referred Yarger to WCH's Wound Healing Center for hyperbaric oxygen treatment (HBO). "I thought that increasing the delivery of oxygen to his injured foot would help the healing process and possibly salvage his toes... and it worked great."

Dr. Todd Tamlyn, medical director of the Wound Healing Center, said, "We don't usually see crush injuries in our outpatient setting, and Mr. Yarger's case was as significant as we have seen."

Yarger received 40 treatments at the WCH Wound Healing Center over five months, along with physical therapy treatments in WCH Rehabilitation Services, conveniently located in the same building. He is now able to walk normally on his previously severely injured foot.

"It's unbelievable how HBO healed my foot," Yarger said. "It was great to receive all my treatment and therapy locally. The staff at Wood County Hospital are terrific. They bent over backwards to help me, and we became like family."

Yarger's story is just one example of the life-changing successes generated within the Center, which marked its fifth anniversary this January.

The WCH Wound Healing Center has a healing success rate of 98% of wounds treated in 14 weeks or less, which far exceeds national standards. Furthermore, patient satisfaction scores were at 96% last year.

"The majority of wounds have a big impact on the patient's lifestyle. Our goal is to bring them back to a normal lifestyle so they can pursue their prior activities," Dr. Tamlyn said. "Patients come to the WCH Wound Healing Center for a variety of reasons, such as diabetic wounds, vascular problems, burns, post-surgical wounds as well as wounds secondary to chemotherapy and radiation treatment."

Healing Center. Mrs. Keller had a lumpectomy and radiotherapy for breast cancer, and her surgical site would not heal because of deep tissue injury.

Her wound treatment consisted of HBO, a special dressing and Wound VAC Therapy, a device which provided negative pressure to help draw the edges of her wound together, removing fluids and infectious materials, enhancing circulation while promoting tissue formation.

Ms. Keller, who made the 100 mile trip five days a weeks for 13 weeks to receive a total of 60 treatments. Following treatment she only had a small impression at the site of the wound.

“I couldn’t have wished for a better staff at the Wound Healing Center. The wound would never have healed without HBO and Wound VAC Treatment,” she said, adding that following her treatments she intended to resume her water aerobics class.

Another Wound Healing Center patient pleased with his treatment is 81-year-old Bill Copley of Lindsay.

Mr. Copley had second degree burns over 78% of his body from a 1975 fire. Although his legs between his knees and ankles did not require skin grafts, he had scar tissue and developed ulcers there, resulting in several unsuccessful treatments for his wounds over a seven-year period.

He came to the Wound Healing Center in 2012 and saw improvement in his injuries over the course of debridements, compression and 60 HBO treatments administered five times a week for 2.5 hours a day.

“We had done everything else without good results,” Mr. Copley said. “If you have been going to the same place for any length of time, pursue a change. The WHC staff are a wonderful bunch of people.”

“We use a wide variety of treatment modalities, ranging from dressings and debridement to hyperbaric oxygen treatment therapy,” Dr. Tamlyn said. “Our physicians and staff are trained and certified in wound care, and most of the equipment we use would not be found in a primary care physician’s office.”

People needing the services of the Wound Healing Center can be referred by their primary care doctor, by a hospital, or they can schedule their own appointment. Treatment is covered by health insurance companies, and Medicare and Medicaid. The Center’s phone number is 419-373-7680. ■

This April, Wood County Hospital joins the Ohio Hospital Association Donate Life Partnership for National Donate Life Month to save lives by increasing the number of registered donors.

Advances in medical science have made transplant surgery extremely successful. Transplantation is no longer considered experimental, but rather a desirable treatment option for end-stage organ failure, and there are not enough organ donors to meet the growing need.

You have the unique opportunity to give hope to the 3,400 Ohioans awaiting life-saving transplants. Here’s how:

- Visit DonateLifeOhio.org to learn more about donation and to register. Anyone can be a potential donor.
- Talk about this with your family. Sharing your donation wishes can help them feel comfortable with your decision.
- Tell others about the need. One person has the potential to save eight lives through organ donation, and enhance 50 more through cornea and tissue donation.

You can make a life-giving difference in someone’s life. ■

"Can," it's a word we use a lot around here. Because we believe world-class cancer care can – and should – be accessible no matter where you live. Our new Cancer Care Center, which opens in March, features the very latest technology. And it's staffed by a team of experienced, board-certified specialists, led by radiation oncologist

Robert Lavey, M.D. and medical oncologist David Brown, M.D. We provide integrated care, including diagnostics, radiation therapy, chemotherapy, rehabilitation, psychological and nutritional services, in a warm comforting environment that is close to home. When you're committed to the people in your community, it's amazing what you can do.
